The Junior Red Cross
100 per cent membership in Junior Red Cross is secured by raising 250 per pupil in school. Our Senior High School is practically 100 per cent. The Junior High School is nearly 75 per cent. Our grade school is less than 50 per cent. To take our own schools and some of the near by rural schools "over the top," a sale has been planned for Saturday P. M. To make this sale a success we will need one article from each home in the city, anything from a dozen onions to a $2 bill. These articles can be delivered at the Teepe theatre Saturday morning. A generous response is desired. The children are entitled to our support. One rural school is bringing a good collection of articles although it has raised over four times its quota.—P. M. WATTS, Supt. of Schools.

A number of our young people are interested in the service and they and their parents should have the privilege of attending. The pastor has accepted an invitation to speak in Chester, Nebraska. A Liberty meeting will be held in the Garfield school Friday afternoon. All the people of the district should attend. Sunday, May 19th, at 11 a. m. will be newspaper service. A committee has been gathering information and facts of great interest will be brought to light. May 20th will be Sammie's Day. The soldiers of Red Cloud will be remembered and honored, no matter whether they belong to some denomination or not. All Sammies should be honored.

A Short Patriotic Program Will be Given

A Soldier in Florida
Camp Joseph E. Johnston, Jacksonville, Fla., April 30
Dear Red Cloud Friends:— I hardly know what to write about that will be of interest to the majority and still that can be confined to the pages of a brief letter. Camp life, in truth, has been most interesting to me, as the surprises come thick and fast the first few weeks after my initiation. My army experience is limited to the confines of but one camp and consequently will express but local conditions, as I understand Camp Johnston is a particularly favored camp since it is located in Sunny Florida and on the banks of the historic St. Johns river. The camp site has been virtually hewn out of a jungle except for a small portion which was formerly the old National Guard camp grounds. Magnificent moss covered live oaks have been left standing as well as several fine specimens of magnolia trees. The moon rising through the trees, apparently from the ripples on the river, certainly is a pleasant sight to the eyes of the tired soldier covered with the dust of an afternoon's hike. The chief occupation of most of the fellows however, is to go to school, I. e., when not on fatigue duty or on K. P. (meaning kitchen police, the army slang for waitresses). The camp has been named into a great vocational University, to train men as best they can be trained in a few weeks time to become blacksmiths, butchers, painters, electricians, stenographers and what not. Of course many of these came from civil life fully qualified along these lines, but they are not of sufficient numbers. One can hardly realize the seriousness of this great conflict until he sees the permanency of the camps and the vast organization which is being perfected. Uncle Sam is going at it with a will. It is true mistakes have been made, but where is there any new organization which can spring to life on so vast a scale and be perfected in a lay? There are many inconveniences attached to camp life, of course, but that is to be expected. The Y. M. C. A. overcomes many of them through its many entertainments and accommodations. Through its efforts, two or three times a week the good people of Jacksonville tune up before large audiences. Talk about an appreciative bunch of fellows—the soldier boy delivers the goods. I am not saying it is always due to the entertainment as much as to the entertainer particularly if the performer is a pretty maiden. The fellows enjoy very much joining in on the chorus of the popular songs. The Y is a friend in the truest sense of the word to the boy in khaki. What does it all mean? Simply that a certain fellow by the name of Kaiser Bill with his queer notion of world power is doomed to defeat. The right and just cause is bound to win. It is time this rambling note come to a close. I hope it is not altogether disappointing. With best wishes I am most, sincerely,
Chas. E. Kellogg,
Sergt. Q. M. C. N. A.
